At BBSafe, we work with organisations, boards, businesses, sports clubs, families and communities to improve the safety of children and other vulnerable people.

We help organisations to get out from under the burden of compliance to tackle culture – where it really makes a difference to safety and protection from abuse. We have developed the Building Blocks framework which takes organisations back to basics to understand how to make a real difference in safeguarding culture, specific to their context, and with relational and bespoke support to identify meaningful, impactful actions. In addressing the building blocks of culture, your compliance will be covered. We also empower families to understand what to look for when they are entrusting an organisation with their children or other vulnerable family member.

These are hard things to talk about, but we know that the more we talk, the easier it is. We welcome contact from boards, management committees, volunteers, groups of parents, management – wherever the champions are for this work, we will start the dialogue with your organisation or group. The messages are too important not to share. We provide pro bono services and free resources to help you understand where you are in your safety culture journey, and where you might need to get to.
